Yoncopin 2010

History of the Yoncopin

Yoncopin is the local name for the American Lotus (Nelumbo lutea), a large water lily that grows exclusively in areas of the Mississippi River Valley. Though it is not found in this region, legend has it that the flower once bloomed in the marshy areas around campus, including the sleepy, silver bayou remembered in the Alma Mater.

Centenary's yearbook adopted the flower's name with its first publication in 1922, following the suggestion of Elizabeth Burgess, a Centenary student. Elizabeth, a staff writer for the school newspaper and Associate Editor of the yearbook, chose the name because she found the Yoncopin flower to be emblematic of the "strength and beauty" she saw in Centenary.

The flower continues to thrive in certain areas of the Mississippi River Valley, and on rare, remarkable occasions, its beauty and strength can still be found in the silver, sleepy bayou just as it was almost 90 years ago with the Yoncopin ' s first publication.

In Retrospect

Every fall, first year students receive a medallion as they leave President's Convocation, and every spring seniors become alumni as they receive diplomas at Centenary's Annual Commencement. The events between those two ceremonies, however, are never the same as the previous year nor will they mirror the next This year, the first under the leadership of President B. David Rowe, was no exception.

The Class of 2013 experienced Centenary's first Best Week Ever, previously known as Orientation, and was deemed the "Best Class Ever" by President Rowe. The Centenary Community was shocked and saddened by the untimely death of beloved Dean Womack in early fall and came together to celebrate his life and mourn his death. The community continued to face difficult times when many staff members were let go and 22 majors cut. Despite the uncertainty of Centenary during this transition period, every Let the Good Times Roll during the 2010 Homecoming Celebration: Laissez les bon temps rouler!

The Yoncopin's theme this year, In Retrospect, was developed amid big changes in Centenary's structure, academics, and morale. While some decisions were difficult to make and confusing to accept, Yoncopin believes that with time and in retrospect we will gain a greater understanding and acceptance of Centenary's changes, and Centenary will be better for them. So grab a cup of Starbucks' finest, find a comfy chair, and enjoy Yoncopin 2010, In Retrospect.

Centenary Press Release

The nations' oldest liberal arts college west of the Mississippi River welcomed its newest president Monday, August 3 when members of the staff and faculty greeted Dr. B. David Rowe to the 184-year old institution.

During an early-morning reception in his honor at Hamilton Hall, Dr. Rowe addressed members of the Centenary community, saying that he has been waiting for this day for the last couple of months and is excited that it has finally arrived.

"I am pleased and delighted to be here," said Rowe. "I am humbled by your selection to be the next president of Centenary College. This is a great institution and we have some great days ahead. I appreciate you taking time this morning to welcome me."

The Centenary College Board of Trustees announced the appointment of Rowe as the 30th president of Centenary College of Louisiana in May 2009, and succeeds Dr. Ken Schwab who earlier this year announced his retirement. He has served for the past nine years as the Vice President for Advancement at LaGrange College in LaGrange, Ga.

According to the new President, he is looking forward to being part of the team here and helping to find ways to advance Centenary into the future. He also admitted that he has a lot of learning to do "right off the bat" and wants to get feedback and comments not only from those assembled but everyone on campus on how to make Centenary a better place for those attending the institution.

"I want to get my ears in tune with what you see are the greatest needs of the institution and the greatest possibilities of the institution," Rowe added. "Please don't hesitate to let me know what you think I need to know....let me know what you think are the greatest needs of Centenary College and what are the greatest possibilities for Centenary College."

He also took a moment to reflect on the recent loss of a young girl from Shreveport's First Baptist Church who recently passed away and with whom many Centenary community members have close ties to. Pausing, Dr. Rowe asked that everyone present take a moment to remember her and her family in their prayers and to think about the privilege that those working at the College are given everyday to help young people fulfill their dreams and their promise.

"We get distracted by so many other things that seem important at the time...but at the end of the day, we have a very important privilege and responsibility to carry out, and that is to intersect the lives of families as they entrust their young sons and daughters to our care," said Rowe. "We have an opportunity and an obligation to listen with our hearts about what their dreams are, what their aspirations are, and to help them envision what their possibilities and futures are."

"Let's use this moment of clarity, this moment of priorities, this moment of knowing what is truly important in life to focus in on what we do each and every day in caring for the young people that cross the Centenary campus. If we keep that as our central focus, if all of us are focused on that one singular mission, we can't help but do the right thing, not only for each of those students, but cumulatively for this institution. Thank you for what you do, what you have been doing and what you will do. Please let me know what I can do so that I can help you succeed but also those young people to succeed."

Rowe, who turned 44 in June, is a Texas native and ordained United Methodist minister who has distinguished himself in higher education circles. He received his undergraduate degree in chemistry from Southwestern University in Georgetown, Texas, his Master of Divinity from Emory University and his Ph.D. in higher education from Georgia State University. He and his wife, Jodi, have two sons, Carter and Philip.

Remembering Dean Womack

Centenary Press Release

David Womack, Dean of Students at Centenary College, died suddenly and unexpectedly August 29, 2009 at approximately 1 p.m. from unknown causes.

Dean Womack had been at Centenary since September 2008 and was responsible for the oversight of the departments of Career Services, Student Life programs and activities, Fitness Center operations, Residence Life, Health Services and College Counseling.

"The entire Centenary community is deeply saddened at this sudden and tragic loss," said Dr. David Rowe, president of Centenary College. "David was a colleague, a mentor and a friend to many on this campus and others throughout the community. He made a lasting impression on our campus in the short time he was here at Centenary and he will be deeply missed."

Womack came to Centenary with more than 20 years of experience in higher education administration. Before assuming his current position, he was the Dean of Student Development at Millikin University in Decatur, Ill.

Womack also had 13 years of experience as a trainer and programmer in the areas of cultural diversity. He served as a consultant on diversity training and volunteer programs at many colleges and universities. Womack published numerous articles in the area of retention, freshman experience and diversity awareness.

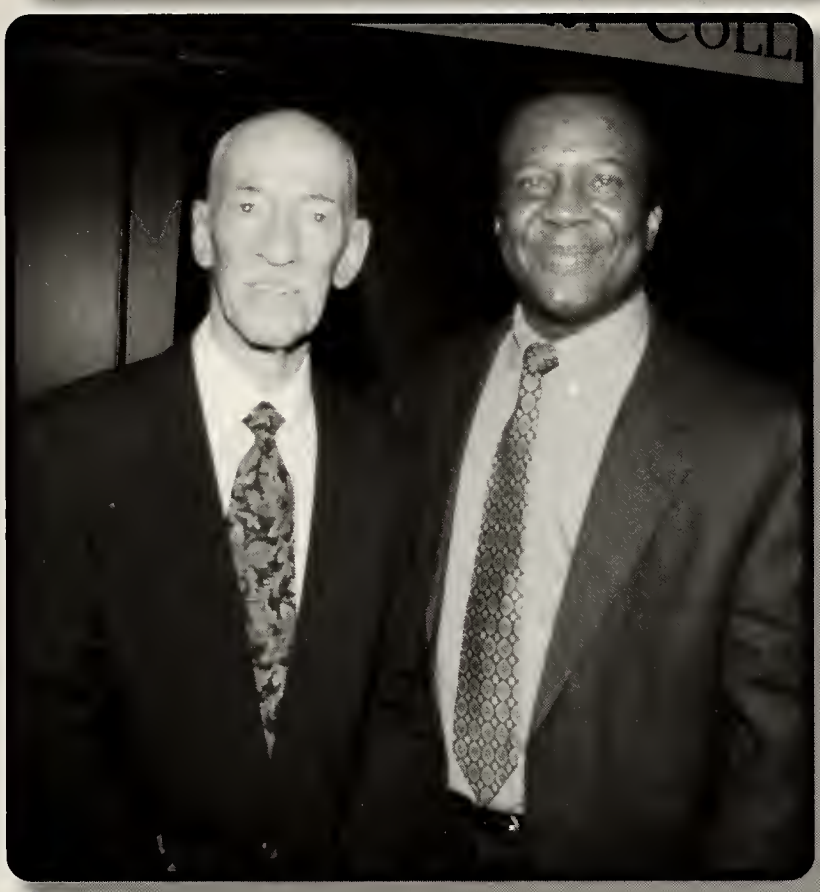

Womack also presented at numerous national conferences on various topics including "The Role of Student Personnel Administrators in Black Student Retention," "The Multi-Racial Student Experience" and "How to Start a Volunteer Service Program at Your Institution."

He was a graduate of Lock Haven University and earned a master's degree in Counseling/ Student Personnel from Western Maryland College.

Dean Womack is survived by his wife Elizabeth Henning, and his four children, Donovan, Tyler, Mason and Landon. Womack was 49.

Athletics: Division I to Division III

Centenary Press Release

The Centenary College Board of Trustees voted on July 21, 2009 to reposition Centenary athletics into Division III.

The vote followed a decision and subsequent directive by the Board of Trustees in its May 2008 meeting to leave the Division I Summit Conference and pursue other more geographically advantageous conferences. The College is scheduled to compete in the Summit League for two more years with no scholarship affected as a result of reclassification to Division III during the transition period.

"This is one part of an overall wide-ranging plan which will be implemented by incoming President Dr. David Rowe," said Ed Crawford, Board of Trustees Acting Chairman. "Centenary must and will restructure its overall strategy to achieve financial and academic stability. We on the Board look forward to working with President Rowe as he helps rebuild an even more firmly established Centenary College as a leading institution of higher education in the South and in the nation."

The outcome of the vote by the Board will reclassify the College into a division which better reflects the mission, education philosophy and financial structure of smaller liberal arts programs such as Centenary's. The vast majority of students and families that choose Centenary College do so because of its tradition and reputation for academic excellence.

Centenary Announces Staff Reductions

Centenary Press Release

In an effort to balance the budget for the 2009-10 academic year, Centenary College of Louisiana is reducing its staff by 15 percent effective immediately.

President David Rowe announced October 12, 2009 that the College is undertaking the reductions as a responsible approach to current economic challenges and the changing needs of the College. This is the first phase of an overall budget restructuring plan.

Administrative departments throughout the campus will absorb the duties of the approximately 25 positions that will be eliminated. The reduction in personnel will ultimately result in the reorganization of several departments within the College where some staff members will be reassigned. Others will have their job responsibilities modified to address the goals of the institution.

"This was one of the hardest decisions Centenary has faced," said Dr. Rowe. "Eliminating positions is painful because we are a close-knit community. The lives of colleagues we know and love are profoundly changed. Centenary will make every effort to help each employee through this difficult transition."

The College will offer severance packages commensurate with years of service, career transition assistance and tuition courtesy for current dependents.

The positions eliminated will not affect the academic mission of the College, said Rowe. "We are taking steps today to secure Centenary's future. Centenary will emerge from this difficulty a stronger institution, focused always on preparing young men and women for full and meaningful lives."

Centenary College to Reposition Academic Program to Meet the Needs of the 21st Century

Centenary Press Release

Centenary College President David Rowe announced February 9, 2010 that he will recommend to the College's Board of Trustees the phasing out of several academic programs once students currently enrolled in those programs complete their studies.

The proposals were informed by the findings of a nine-member task force, chaired by Interim Provost Dan Keck and consisting of chairs of key faculty standing committees and members of the faculty elected by colleagues specifically to serve on this presidential advisory body.

Once the phasing is completed the restructuring will focus the College's undergraduate academic program on a field of 22 majors. Currently the small residential liberal arts college offers 44 majors. Among the majors affected by the announcement are German, Latin, Health and Exercise Science, Elementary and Secondary Education, Instrumental Music, Music Performance, and Accounting.

"All of our academic programs have been consistent with the College's mission and represent rigorous adherence to the highest traditions of the academy;" said Rowe, "so refining the overall program to concentrate on areas of current and future strength required tough choices among several distinctive programs."

An emerging new vision for Centenary College against the backdrop of the nation's faltering economy occasioned the College's Board to commission the review of programs last summer. Rowe engaged faculty in responding to the Board's commission by creating the advisory task force. "The charge to the task force was to create the academic program that will define church-related liberal arts education for the 21st Century," Rowe said. "Our challenge in this endeavor has been and will be to create such a program while optimizing the use of shrinking resources."

With these moves, Centenary is charting a bold new course into the 21st Century. A renewed focus on undergraduate arts and sciences programs will set the stage for Centenary's president to open up a conversation with faculty about complementing those programs with graduate professional programs, such as the Master's of Arts in Teaching, and to investigate the creation of more opportunities for students to engage global cultures through sustained and well-crafted international study experiences.

"Now, more than ever," according to Rowe, "the world needs globally-engaged professionals who can lead with the creativity of artists and the curiosity of scientists. Since 1825 Centenary has prepared such wise, caring and moral leaders."

2009 MAY Module

{the intercultural experience}

In order to enrich Centenary's curriculum, departments of the College offer a variety of short courses each May. These courses explore topics of general or specialized interest not normally offered in Centenary's semester and summer courses.

All students must complete one Module for graduation, but an additional Module may be applied towards the hours required for graduation.

Centenary's Module courses literally take place across the globe. Some are offered on campus, whereas others involve study and travel in other institutions and nations. Because of the variety of options available, many students attend Module courses that serve the additional purpose of fulfilling the Community and/or the Cultue requirements of the Trek Experience.

& President's Convocation

Centenary Press Release

Students, faculty and staff heard from the leaders of two major organizations during the annual President's Convocation when the College was introduced to the new president, Dr. B. David Rowe, and heard from respected business leader, S. Truett Cathy, Founder and CEO of Chick-fil-A Inc.

The traditional all-campus gathering took place Tuesday, Aug. 25 beginning at 11 a.m. in Centenary's Brown Chapel, and was open to all members of the community. The convocation launched the new academic year and offered special recognition to the incoming students and the 2010 graduating class at Centenary.

This was the first opportunity for the Centenary community to be officially introduced to Dr. B. David Rowe, Centenary's new president, who took office Aug. 1. Prior to his duties as President, Dr. Rowe was the Vice President for Advancement at LaGrange College in Georgia.

Also speaking at this year's event was S. Truett Cathy, Founder and CEO of Chick-fil-A Inc., a business that he and his brother, Ben, started in 1946 when they opened an Atlanta diner known as The Dwarf Grill (later renamed The Dwarf House). Through the years, that restaurant prospered and led Cathy to further the success of his business. In 1967, Cathy founded and opened the first Chick-fil-A restaurant in Atlanta's Greenbriar Shopping Center. Today, Chick-fil-A is the second-largest quick-service chicken restaurant chain in the United States based on annual sales.

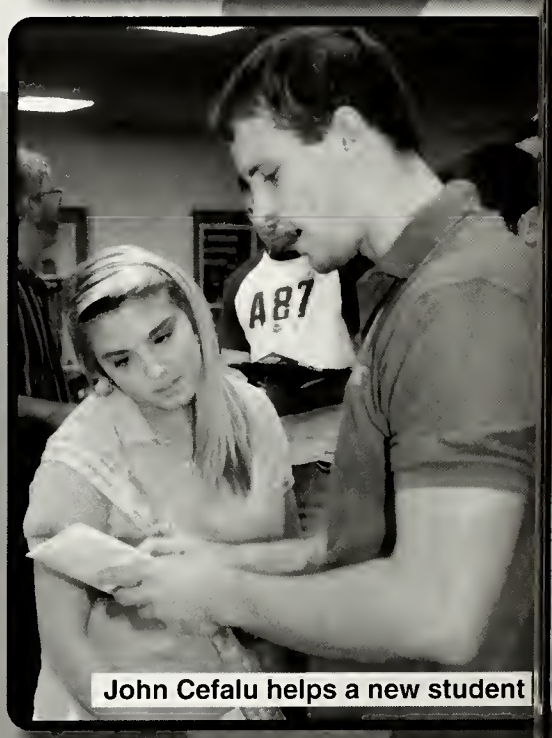

Prior to the Convocation, Cathy was at the Bossier City Chick-fil-A restaurant to honor Centenary freshman Jamie Dyche as Chick-fil-A's 25,000th Leadership Scholarship recipient. Bossier City restaurant operator, John Roden; Centenary College President, Dr. Rowe; Bossier City Mayor, Lorenz "Lo" Walker; and Parkway High School Principal Joe Huffman will also attend the milestone presentation.

Dyche received the scholarship through the national program, which, since 1973, has awarded $25 million in scholarship money to restaurant team members who have demonstrated excellence in the areas of work, education, and community and leadership development. In Louisiana alone, Chick-fil-A has awarded the $1,000 Leadership Scholarship to nearly 500 restaurant team members

Centenary Press Release

Centenary College shared an annual Christmas tradition with the public on Friday, Dec. 4, when it presented its Christmas Candlelight Service, a program of readings, prayer, music, song and candle lighting in Brown Memorial Chapel. The program was free and open to the public with the service beginning at 6 p.m.

Music was provided by the Centenary Camerata and Chorale singers, the Centenary College Choir, and the Centenary Flute Ensemble.

Camerata sang Michael McGlynn's Heavenly Light arranged by Peter J. Wilhousky, Lux Aurumque by Eric Whitacre, and Wonderful Peace by Gustaf Nordqvist. The Centenary Chorale sang Edwin Fissinger's Love Came Down at Christmas.

The Centenary Choir presented the Herbert Howells Magnificat, accompanied by Dr. Hollice Watson on organ. Betelehemu with soloist Seth Taylor and accompanied by Michael Jarboe, Trevor Stine, Ruben Reyes and Christine Linschoten on percussion; and Climb to the Top of the Highest Mountain by Carolyn Jennings.

The Centenary Flute Ensemble presented the prelude with several selections of gathering music for Christmas and accompanied by Dr. Hollice Watson on organ.

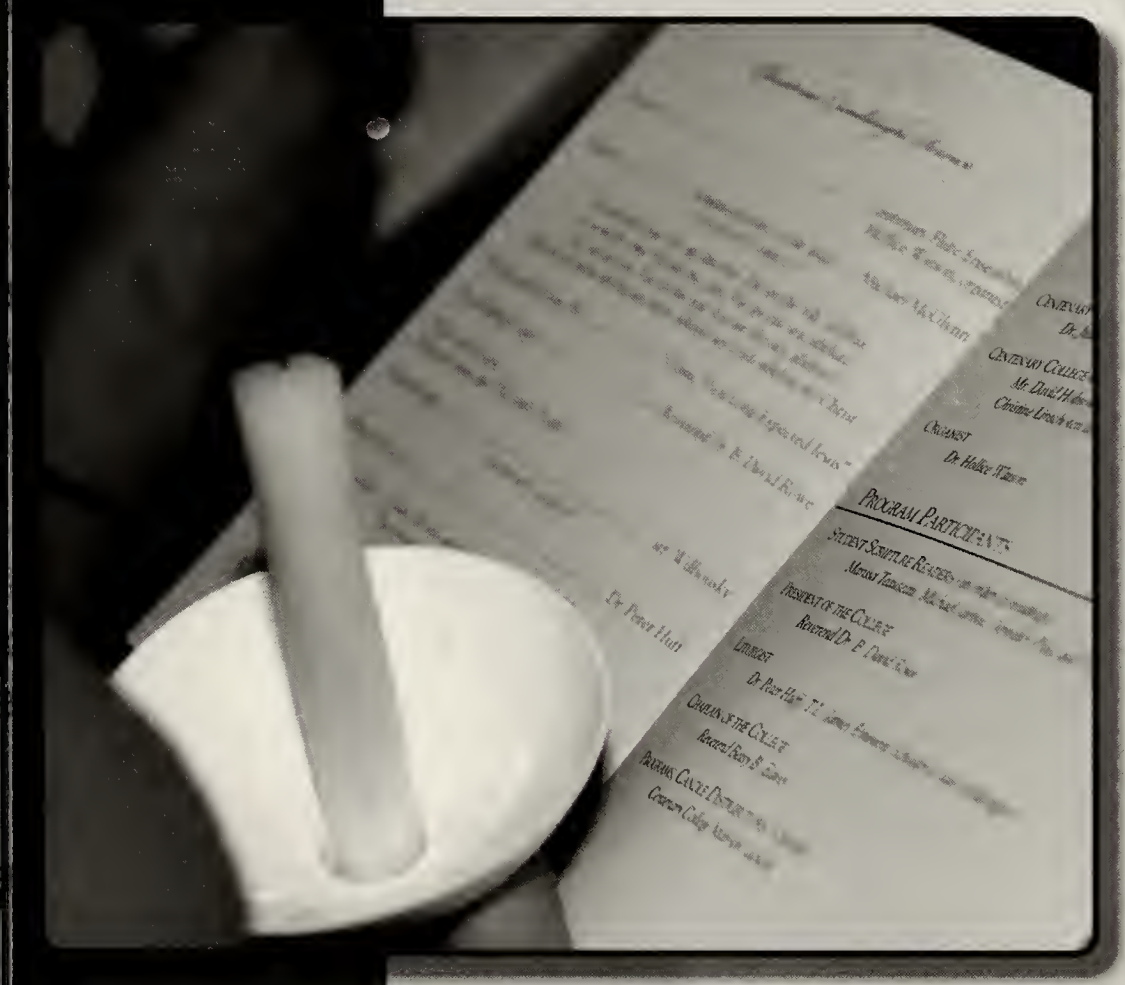

The Reverend Dr. B. David Rowe, president of the College led the Bidding Prayer and gave the Benediction, with Dr. Peter Huff, who holds the T.L. James Chair of Religious Studies, leading the Advent Litany. The Rev. Betsy B. Eaves, Centenary chaplain and director of the Christian Leadership Center, delivered the annual Christmas message.

The congregation was invited to sing several familiar Christmas hymns, including Come, Thou Long Expected Jesus; O Come, O Come, Emmanuel; Silent Night; and Hark! The Herald Angels Sing.

After the service, the community was invited to attend a reception and visit with Santa in Magale Library.

DREAM WEEK

Centenary Press Release

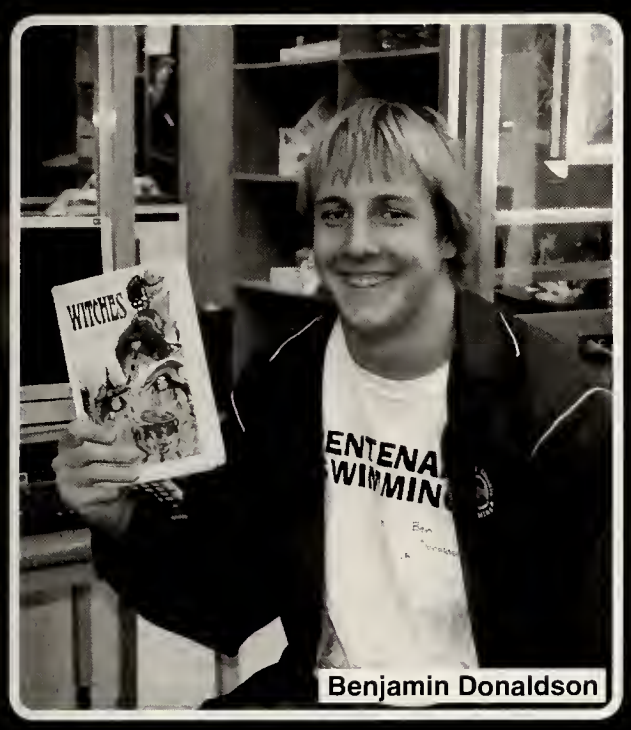

Centenary College celebrated the legacy and views of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., with a week-long tribute of lectures, film and document screenings, theater performance and other events January 18-22.

"Dream Week 2010: Keeping the Dream Alive" honors the life of Dr. King with activities designed to capture the spirit of his message, but also provide the opportunity to reflect on the past while seeking hope, determination and an opportunity to act upon the promise of the future.

The week kicked off when Centenary students, staff, faculty, and alumni had the opportunity to take part in the school's 2nd Annual MLK Service Day. On Monday, the service project consisted of participants working at Creswell and E.B.W. Stoner Hill Elementary schools to spruce up the school campuses through painting, cleaning, and other minor improvements.

On Tuesday, Dr. Aaron Dobynes, pastor at Shreveport's Evergreen Baptist Church, delivered the Convocation address in the Whited Room and the event was free and open to the public. Later in the evening Prom Night in Mississippi, was shown at the Robinson Film Center where a community discussion followed.

Wedensday brought with it the play, Incognito, shown in Marjorie Lyons Playhouse. The full production was free and open to the public.
"Michael Sidney Fosberg from the one-man show of Incognito, the Play facilitated a workshop and convocation on Thursday on the issues of stereotyping and prejudice. The Centenary Film Society concluded the week with another screening of Prom Night in Mississippi on campus.

Students, Faculty, Staff, and Alumni let the good times roll during the 2010 Homecoming, Laissez les bon temps rouler! The week began for the ladies and gents on Monday with Late Night in the SUB. AJ Haynes entertained the crowd as organizations competed in the window painting competition and enjoyed king cakes from Lafayette.

CAB sponsored comedian Jay Black on Tuesday in Kil-Patrick Auditorium. On Wednesday, students decorated Mardi Gras masks and umbrellas on the caf deck with RHA. Wednesday night the 6th Annual Faculty/Staff vs. Student Kickball Game took place on Jones-Rice Field. The students were of course victorious, and everyone had a great time!

Thursday night students and community members traded canned goods for spirit sticks at the Gent's vs. South Dakota basketball game. The Leading Ladies performed at half-time and Up 'til Dawn hosted their annual jump-rope-a-thon.

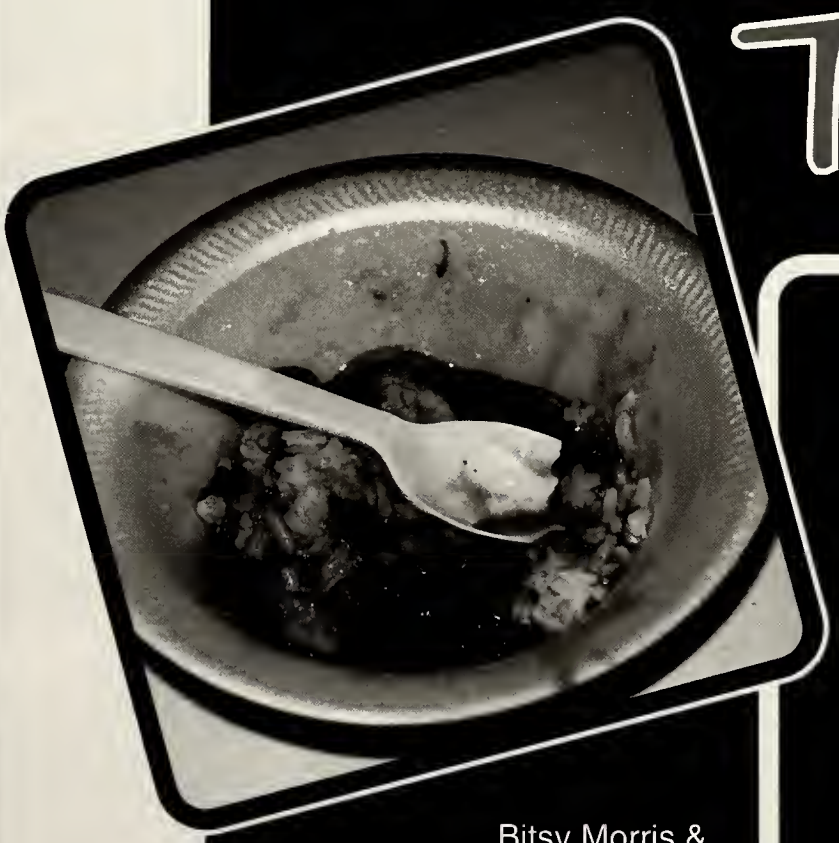

The rain didn't stop everyone from having a great time Friday night at the annual gumbo cook-off. For the second year in a row, Big Hat Tom Fields and his Foot Stompin' Zydeco Band led the night's entertainment with a perfor-mance from Centenary's own T.D. McMurry.

Saturday was packed full of events, beginning with the TKE Active vs. Alumni football game on Jones-Rice Field. The 2010 Homecoming parade rolled down Centenary Blvd. shortly thereafter, and was followed by an all campus indoor picnic in the Fitness Center.

The Ladies battled it out in the Gold Dome against North Dakota at 2pm and the Gents followed at 4:30. At half-time of the Gents game, the homecoming court was announced and the royalty crowned. John Ramsey and Jennifer Pate were crowned Prince and Princess, and David Williams and Sunny LaGrone were crowned King and Queen.

Intramurals

Thomas Wartelle,
Contributing Writer

Centenary's Intramurals allow students to play a variety of sports in a friendly, comfortable atmosphere while helping to foster bonds of friendship between students.

Featuring flag football, volleyball, dodgeball, basketball, soccer, and softball, intramurals provide something that everyone can participate in.

Athletic prowess isn't required; all that matters is that participants have fun.

n May, 21 Centenary students, staff members and alums participated in the "Willie Build" in Dallas, TX. The roup helped build a Habitat House in memory of Willie Tichenor, younger brother of Centenary alum, Taylor ichenor ('09). During these two days, students put their love of neighbor into action as they installed windows, loors, siding and shingles. Everyone had a great time and also enjoyed swimming and a good home cooked linner at the Tichenor's home.

This year the theatre honors society finally reactivated with the national chapter and had a great year. They produced four amazing mainstage productions inculding, Never the Sinner directed by Emily Heaugatter, Step on a Crack directed by senior theatre major Shannon Stoddard, Summer and Smoke directed by guest director Luke Eddy, and A New Brain also directed by Emily Heugatter. Alpha Psi Omega teamed up with the Shreveport Little Theatre to produce A Christmas Carol which was directed by Heather Peak Hooper.

The group also participated in Service Learning where Emily Heugatter directed a wonderful production of The Tempest which traveled around to reach many different people. The American Shakespeare Company on Tour came back to campus and brought with them three wonderful productions and put on several workshops for students.

The theatre department also hosted their annual Coffee House in the Fall and Open Mic Nights during the second semester which turned out to be huge successes. The group ended the year with the initiation of 11 wonderful students into the chapter, and the annual theatre banquet.

Greek Life

Panhellenic

Kristin DiGioia, Contributing Writer

The National Panhellenic Conference (NPC) is an organization dedicated to the Greek community. NPC strives to unite all members of Greek letter sororities by empowering and enriching the lives of women. Panhellenic promotes the four pillars of sisterhood: Service, Scholarship, Leadership, and Sisterhood.

The Panhellenic Association of Centenary College promotes the high standards of NPC through programming, community outreach, and the development of leaders among Greek women. Our college Panhellenic also serves as a liaison between Greek sororities and other campus offices like IFC (Interfraternity Conference), the Office of Student Life and the Admissions Office among others.

This year our Panhellenic has been responsible for the implementation of Greek Tours during Preview Weekend, a new cooperative format for Recruitment Workshops, a Tanhellenic program emphasizing that Greeks share the same interests and together with IFC and the Office of Student Life a Greek Night at the Robinson Film Center celebrating and recognizing the outstanding Greek community at Centenary College. We're looking forward to a great recruitment in the fall of 2010!

The Chi Omega fraternity is a sisterhood that provides a network of friends and lifelong development for collegiate and alumnae members. We, the Iota Gamma chapter, "follow" this mission statement "to a t." Chi Omega is committed to: personal integrity, excellence in academic and intellectual pursuits, inter-generation participation, community service, leadership opportunities, and social enrichment. We participate in many campus events including Homecoming, intramural sports, and Miss-ter Centenary.

We also have a sisterhood retreat during the fall semester as well as an auction benefitting our philanthropy: Make-A-Wish Foundation. In the spring semester we gather with the Shreveport alumnae chapter at Eleusinian, a brunch to recognize our senior and newly initiated members. Throughout the entire year we strive to provide the women of Chi Omega with the tools to succeed academically and we are proud to have the highest all-campus GPA for 7 semesters in a row.

Zeta Tau Alpha is the oldest female fraternity on Centenary College of Louisiana's campus. Zeta's beloved symbols include the five point crown, the strawberry, and the white violet. The ladybug and Raggedy Ann are the mascots exclusive to the Beta Iota chapter. The official colors are turquoise blue and steel gray.

The ladies of Zeta Tau Alpha hold their upstanding name with various on- and off-campus services and activities. For the past five years, we have raised over ten thousand dollars annually towards the national philanthropy, Breast Cancer Research and Awareness. Along with our national philanthropy, we actively participate in service projects every month, including giving Christmas presents to underprivileged children and making Valentine's Day cards for the residents of Holy Angels. The sisters of Zeta Tau Alpha have an upstanding 100% participation rate in other clubs and organizations on campus, including Best Buddies, Maroon Jackets, AED, and many athletic teams.

Not only are the ladies of Zeta tau Alpha committed to community service and campus involvement, but we are also actively committed to one another. Throughout the year we plan sisterhoods, formals and themed parties, and pledge class events. Above all else, one of the main values upheld by the ladies of Zeta Tau Alpha is, "LOVE! The greatest of all things!"

I'm a ZTA!

In the 2009-10 school year, the gentlemen of the Kappa Alpha Order returned to business as usual. Armed with a large new pledge class we were ready to increase the number of Southern Gentlemen on campus.

The Kappa Alpha Order lives by its motto "Dieu et les Dames" and was ready to show it to anyone. The Order welcomed anyone into their house with a smile and handshake or a hug, and was ready to begin the year properly with their annual Jungle Party.

In the second spring semester the Order added one more man to their ranks and now enjoys a very large number of men in their ranks. The Kappa Alpha Order now looks forward to the future and wants to continue to spread their excellent reputation on campus

The Epsilon Chapter of the Kappa Sigma Fraternity seeks to exemplify the Kappa Sigma principles of Fellowship, Leadership, Scholarship, and Service, as well as make Centenary's social scene just a little more lively! In regards to all of these pursuits, the past year has been a resounding success. Picking up strong pledge classes in both the fall and spring, our Chapter was proud to welcome nine new Brothers to our Fraternity! In the fall, the Sig Halloween Smash was a blast. In the spring, our long-held South Seas was incredible, for the first time bringing the sand party both outdoors and indoors! Our annual Sig Sale, the auctioning off of strapping young Kappa Sigma men to throngs of screaming ladies, raised an unprecedented $700, all of which was donated to the Kappa Sigma Military Heroes Campaign, aiding wounded military veterans. Our formal, held at Lake DeGray in Arkansas, provided a relaxing weekend getaway to cap the year off!

The Brothers of Kappa Sigma honored themselves quite thoroughly this past year, with Brothers involved in SGA, Honor Court, RA, Ambassadors, Springboard and Orientation. The Sigs were also athletically involved, with Brothers on the Centenary cross country, golf, lacrosse, soccer, and swim teams, as well as bringing home the coveted title of Intramural Champs! Sigs posted strong showings on the Dean's List and won numerous academic awards from both the school and Kappa Sigma Nationals.

Although we set the bar high for 2009-2010, we look forward to achieving even greater heights next year!

The Iota Theta Chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity consists of a diverse group of men who all cherish three principles above all else: love, charity, and esteem. The members of Tau Kappa Epsilon come from all walks of life. Some excel in the classroom, some perform in Choir or Camerata, some are future filmmakers, and several are surprisingly good at sports. This year TKE initiated eight new members in the fall and two in the spring.

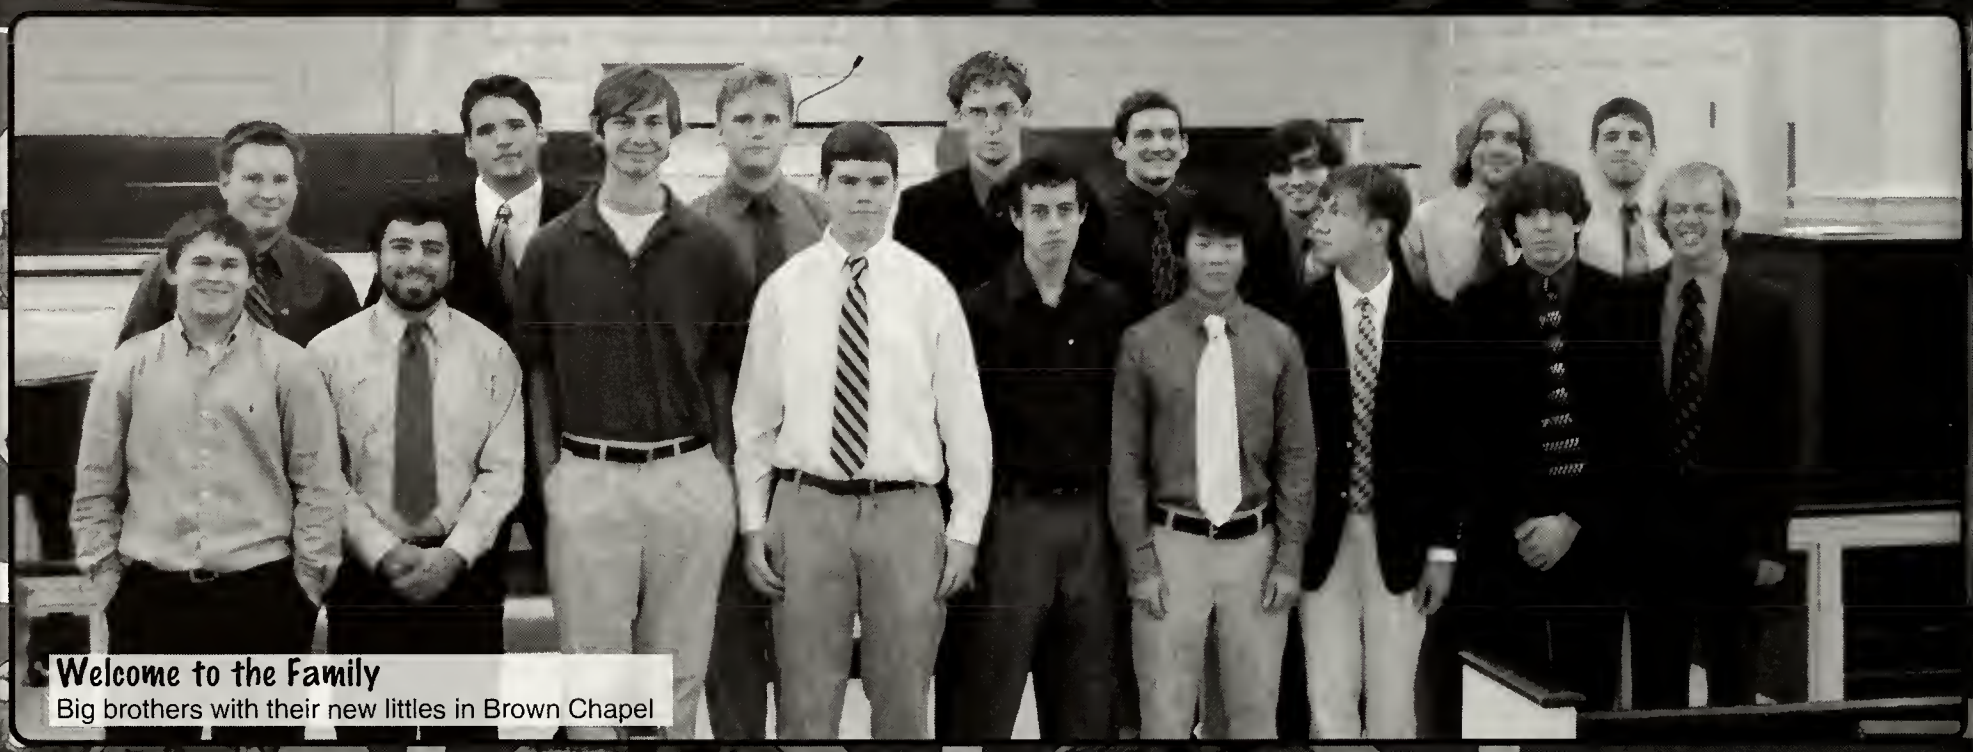

The men of Tau Kappa Epsilon raised over $1500 for Alzheimer research during their fifth annual poker tournament benefitting the Ronald and Nancy Reagan Alzheimer's foundation, reclaimed their title as soccer intramural champions, and of course threw some amazing parties. Graveyard, Detention, and Toga were resounding successes, and TKE's annual formal, the Red Carnation Ball held in Texarkana, was one of the best ever.

The Eta Rho Chapter of Theta Chi Fraternity is an academically driven fraternity with a very close-nit brotherhood. This past year we have initiated 13 new members and are continually growing! Everyone in our Fraternity lives by our motto "The Helping Hand," which is what we have always extended if we saw anyone that needed our help! The symbol of Theta Chi is the red carnation and the mascot is the rattlesnake, the colors of our fraternity are Military Red and White as well. Every year we host a fundraising event which is called Rock Out. Its when we bring in a band to raise money that will go to certain charities. The main organization we support is the American Cancer Society. Eta Rho is not just about grades though, we all like to cut lose and hang out whenever we have a chance and that is what truly makes us a brotherhood!

Student Government Association

Matthew Wallace, Contributing Writer

This year the SGA has made an effort to be the best representatives for all students. At our fall retreat we adopted a new mission statement for ourselves to reflect this idea. We felt that SGA is a diverse group of student advocates who communicate effectively, offer innovative solutions, and provide appropriate resources to better the Centenary Community. During the fall semester we helped students at orientation get to know President Rowe, moved our meetings to the Whited Room to increase visibility, and had our committees focus on how to engage individuals both on and off campus. SGA led the charge into the second semester declaring it the year of the student. The first visible sign of this was the annual Homecoming celebration which is sponsored each year by Student Government. This year's theme "Laissez les bon temps rouler" was a great way for Centenary to celebrate its Louisiana heritage and bring together groups across the campus. In addition to Homecoming, SGA used student fees for several campus-wide student appreciation days providing Humphries, snow cones, Happy Belly's, and rides to class. Along with external campus improvements, SGA focused on improving internal processes. We revised the constitution, developed new financial policies, and saw that the student handbook was fair and balanced for all students. All in all SGA had a successful year and is poised to help lead the premier student experience for the 21st century.

Residence Hall Association

Dylan Davis, Contributing Writer

RHA held some big events in 2009-2010. The organization had its biggest program of the year, Diversity Week, which included different activities for each day of the week including a diversity fair at the end of the week. The program was a success! RHA also held Halloween Hoopla, which invited children to come have Halloween treats while they watched a Centenary Gents basketball game. In addition to holding programs, RHA also implemented a recycling program campus wide for all of the Residence Halls. This change fostered a green movement that is sure to build in the coming years. RHA is an organization on campus that is dedicated to making changes within the Residence Halls as well as holding fun programs for all of the residents.

Centenary Activities Board

Centenary Activities Board (CAB) is a student run organization whose mission is to bring fun and free activities to campus for students. CAB brings performers like Comedian Jay Black or Slam Poet John Goode, shows movies like “Accepted”, and holds events like Casino Night or Miss-ter Centenary, Centenary's annual drag show.

There are two festival weeks during the school year which are week-long themed programs. Freak Week happens every October and this year’s theme was A Galaxy Far, Far Away. There was a hypnotist, an oxygen bar, and even a Jedi Training seminar. Spring Fling is usually in the Spring and this year the them was Recess. The week was dedicated to the best part of Kindergarten besides nap. There were games like the Floor is Lava, students built forts in the SUB, and there was a movie in the Fitness Center pool.

Capping the year off, CAB put together a carnival/concert for current and prospective students. Performers MaryAnne Marino, Oso Closo, Three Day Weekend, and Antennas Up played sets while students enjoyed an organizational carnival with fun inflatables.

'til Dawn

St. Jude Children's Reseach Hospital was founded in 1962 by Danny Thomas, who believed that "No child should die in the dawn of life." There have been so many advancements since Danny built his hospital. Acute lymphobloastic leukemia, or ALL, is the most common type of childhood cancer, and the survival rate has increased from 4% (in 1962) to 94%. That is truly amazing! St. Jude shares all their information, to try to help all the children of the world.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital treats children at absolutely no cost to their families. When a family walks in to the hospital with their sick child, they are told not to worry about the money, and that it is all taken care of. St. Jude takes about $1 million dollars to run per day, so they need support to keep them running.

Up 'Til Dawn is an organization that raises money for the children at St. Jude Children's Research Hospital to make sure that they never have to pay a cent to get the treatment they need. To help, each participant gathered addresses for at least 35 friends and family. At the Up 'Til Dawn Event, we provided the participant with letters that they could write to those people that they knew asking them to send a donation to St. Jude. This year the Up 'Til Dawn event raised over $7,000! We hope to raise more in the years to come!

OUTREACH

The members of Outreach celebrate diversity and envision a society that embraces everyone, including those of diverse sexual orientations and gender identities. Only with respect, dignity and equality for all will we reach our full potential as human beings, individually and collectively. Outreach welcomes the participation and support of all who share in, and hope to realize this vision.

Outreach promotes the health and well-being of gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender and heterosexual persons by providing: support, to cope with an adverse society; education, to enlighten an ill-informed public; and advocacy, to end discrimination and to secure equal civil rights Outreach provides opportunity for dialogue about sexual orientation and gender identity, and acts to create a society that is healthy and respectful of human diversity. Outreach also provides education on all types of sexual health in educating our campus and the community about how to enjoy safe sexual experience, regardless of an individual's choice of partner, and therefore also provides a tolerant and open service for the campus and community, so that all persons may have an opportunity for education on individual sexual health no matter their preference.

Outreach's goals involve creating a world in which young people may grow up and be educated with freedom from fear of violence, bullying and other forms of discrimination, regardless of their real or perceived gender identity or sexual orientation or that of their families. Outreach partners with organizations in the community such as PFLAG and PACE to ensure this goal. Outreach will strive to work toward full inclusion of gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender persons within their chosen communities of faith, and to expose these communities to the truth of these individuals, in order to deter ignorance, misgivings, irrational fear, bullying and violence. Outreach attempts to create a campus in which all GLBT persons may openly and safely pursue their interests and may accomplish any goal that may be within his/her/their ambition. Through this goal outreach hopes to create a society in which all gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender persons may enjoy, in every aspect of their lives, full civil and legal equality and may participate fully in all the rights, privileges and obligations of full citizenship in this country.

Math & Computer Science Club

The mission of the Math and Computer Science Club is to provide an organization to foster and promote interest in Mathematics and Computer Science by having forums to discuss career opportunities in these fields, and to have professionals in these fields to discuss their work applications or to discuss topics of interest. Further, the faculty advisers encourage students to attend professional meetings in mathematics and computer science and to participate in these meetings by presenting their research. Also, students are encouraged to participate in contests involving problem-solving or programming.

Philosophy Discussion Group

The Philosophy Discussion Group of Centenary College promotes thoughtful discussion between students that will lead to a more meaningful and complete understanding of the world around them.

Pre-law Society

The purpose of the Pre-law Society is to organize and orient students interested in law and related professions and to provide information to students regarding the workings of the legal system and professional schools.This year a variety of speakers came. Those speakers included, Attorney Lee Aronson from Northwest Louisiana Legal Services speaking on his pro bono work, Attorney John Hodge speaking on "Being a Lawyer in the 21st century" and law school student Amanda Murphy, discussing life as a law student. The pre-law society also hosted Judge Robert M. Parker for Constitution day, and concluded the year by promoting a practice LSAT at the Kaplan center.

Catholic Student Organization

Mary Guerrant, Contributing Writer

Catholic Student Organization, CSO, is the Catholic religious group on Centenary's campus. All students, faculty, and staff are invited to participate in the group's activities and meetings. This year, CSO met weekly to discuss various topics such as the Cathecism and Bible, and met for Mass at least once a month with their chaplain, Fr. Peter Mangum from St. John Berchman's Cathedral. Members met outside of the usual meetings to make mailbox stuffers for the incoming Catholic freshman, painted posters in the SUB to remind students of Mass, and maintained tables at several of the college's organization fairs. They also joined in fellowship for a Lenten retreat off-campus, in which they enjoyed pizza (cheese, of course for Lent!) and various discussions.

Stepping Stones

This is an ecumenical worship service open to all who seek to encounter God through songs, scripture, and communion. We strive to be a theologically welcoming community sharing the love of Christ with all. Services are held every Tuesday at 11:10 a.m. in Brown Chapel and conclude with communion starting August 25th.

United Methodist Student Movement

UMSM meets Monday nights at 5:00 p.m. in the Religious Life Center at 2910 Centenary Blvd. UMSM is committed to the United Methodist theme of "Open Doors, Open Hearts, Open Minds." Gatherings may include lively theological discussions, Bible study or opportunities for meditation but always food and fellowship.

BCM is sponsored by area Baptist churches and is open to all students. BCM provides students with opportunities to be involved in leadership, weekly corporate worship, small group discipleship, mission projects and social events. BCM will meet Mondays at 6:30pm in the Steeple Room of Brown Chapel.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes

Jacob Jones, Contributing Writer

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes is a nationwide, interdenominational Christian organization whose mission statement is, "Our purpose is to present to athletes and coaches and all whom they influence the challenge and adventure of receiving Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord, serving Him in their relationships and in the fellowship of the church." The group met Wednesdays at 9pm in Kilpatrick Auditorium. Their definition of an athlete is anyone who sweats and/or showers, so all were welcome!

The College Athlete Retreat at Camp Bethany in the spring kicked off a semester focused on being more like Jesus in interactions with people. The group followed that up by something totally unprecedented: In the style of the retreat, they divided FCA into red, orange, green, and blue teams that competed in sports trivia, Bible trivia, and games for an end-of-the-semester prize.

During the meetings, they discussed dealing with trials and temptations, talking to people about spiritual issues, keeping their passion for God strong, and FCA spent an awesome three weeks talking about relationships. One of the most memorable events of the year was the wedding of Marla Briggs and Andy Stroup, who have been spiritual mentors to so many members. Another highlight was the second annual Intercollegiate Tigerball Tournament at Louisiana College against LC, LSU, and NSU. Centenary's A-Team pulled off an undefeated championship and brought back a nice set of Tigerball trophies.

Canterbury House is the Episcopal Church on Centenary's campus, located at the corner of Wilkinson and Woodlawn directly across from Marjorie Lyons Playhouse Theatre. It is open to all who would like to worship, and gather with friends. The first gathering was Tuesday, September 1st at 5:00pm. They hosted their annual "Welcome Home" party for all students. (The Bishop was present!) Thereafter, they had an informal Eucharist every Tuesday at 5 p.m. followed by a meal provided by a local Episcopal church.

Spiritual Connections

Laura Vaughan, Contributing Writer

The Christian Leadership Center is an academic program for full-time Centenary students who desire to integrate their vocational decision with their faith. Through fellowship in community, theological reflection, hands-on internships, mission opportunities, and small group accountability, Christian Leadership Center students encounter ways they can offer their life to God that merges passion with calling. Each year is kicked off with a retreat that sets the pace for the year, introduces students to the year's theme of study and serves as a way for each member to get to know their peers, grow in their knowledge of God and bond as a community of diverse faiths and backgrounds.

This year CLC's theme was "Spiritual Disciplines". The group learned about the inward disciplines of meditation, prayer, fasting and study and the outward disciplines of simplicity, solitude, submission and service as well as experiencing worship and the meaning of confession. CLC also celebrated their 35th anniversary this year complete with a reunion colloquium and a CLC 35th Anniversary float in the Homecoming parade.

Student Secular Association

Mary Wygle, Contributing Writer

Centenary's Secular Student Association is an organization that sponsors public dialogue on secular/religious issues on campus and advocates for the acceptance of atheists, agnostics, humanists, freethinkers, and other secular people. The group holds monthly discussion meetings in James Lobby and conducts outreach programs for their cause. All Centenary students and faculty are welcome to join regardless of their opinions and creed, and Student Secular Association specifically endorses collaboration between secular and religious organizations to achieve a common level of academic and civil understanding. This was the first year for SSA, the founding father being Dallas Krentzel. Activities that SSA host include monthly events, open discussions and dialogs on secular issues. The biggest event this year was "Festivus for the Rest of Us" winter celebration based off of pseudo-holiday on the sitcom Seinfeld. It included such festivities as the Festivus pole, the Feats of Strength and the Airing of Grievances. Discussion topics have been 'What is an atheist, agnostic, humanist?' 'How can secular people be ethical?' 'How do you deal with death?' and 'Is religion a force of good in the world?' The group also participated in the Big Event, the Centenary Homecoming Parade, and preview weekend for incoming students.

KSCL 91.3 fm

shreveport's alternative music source

Cazes Verbois shows off the result of a productive staff meeting: the KSCL bunny in a condom.

Kelly Dunnigan, Contributing Writer

KSCL 91.3FM is Centenary College's non commercial, educational radio station. Centenary students and staff, as well as a host of community members, DJ around the clock, playing whatever tickles their fancy. During the 2009-2010 school year, KSCL finally began streaming on the Internet. Now anyone in the world can listen simply by going to kscl.fm. The station also provided Centenary with a series of concerts, including the second coming of Anavan as well as three performances by Baton Rouge based, We Landed on the Moon.

KSCL is run by a staff that reviews music, talks to promoters, collects the news, creates programming, pays the bills, finds underwriters and most importantly, has superpowers. Josh Johnson has the ability to look like Mr. T while Mary Wygle can turn on fire. Cazes Verbois touches cats... appropriately and Merwin McCrady can eat all the ice cream in the world, but he does so one scoop at a time. Zakk Owens is very sticky and also has the power to deteriorate, but one day we will rebuild him. Tim Lanza has the middle name "Marie" and Rebecca Lehr can quote any and all annoying, pop songs. Casey MacBeath manages to always show up to meeting drunk, simultaneously looking like John Mayer. The Station-ary Bike appears out of thin air. Marquette LaForest is astounding at Scrabble. Chelsea David can backflip on demand. Kelly Dunnigan is capable of mind-controlling Rebecca, making her put a bunny in a condom and other menial tasks. Kirk Reedstrom is incredibly slippery, the best power. Finally, Michael Laffey, the advisor to KSCL, can not only pull off a fedora, but also invented what it means to be a hipster.

The Pandora Literary Arts Magazine gathers submissions in artwork, literature, music, and the film. We gather student created material and publish it in a book format and distribute it to the Centenary community. We gather material from students, faculty, staff, and alumni of Centenary College. Every year we hold our submission drive to collect materials. We also host an annual release party to celebrate the completion of the Pandora. We also recently held an all night event which we hope to continue in the coming years.

Escaped Images Dance Company is an organization that focuses on dance as a language of movement. Company members are encouraged to express their creativity and dedication to this form of art through personal work that can be showcased in front of live audiences. As a dance company, Escaped Images has had the opportunity to perform in different environments this past year including on campus, at regional dance conferences, and around the Shreveport-Bossier community. In the fall of 2009, company members worked with artistic director, Renee Cheveallier, to perform a site-specific piece for the Red River Revel Festival in downtown Shreveport. Known for an annual Spring Concert, this year was no let-down as Escaped Images collaborated with a local Shreveport gypsy band known as 'Dirtfoot.' In 2010, Escaped Images participated in the South-Central Conference of the American College Dance Festival Association (ACDFA) where one senior dancer and choreographer had the opportunity to showcase personal work to the adjudicators of the conference.

Centenary's Choir

Centenary Press Release

The Centenary College Choir left Thursday, May 28, 2009 for a tour and performances in New Zealand and Australia before returning home on June 9. The group was comprised of 61 student singers and was accompanied by 26 additional friends, family, faculty, staff, and alumni.

The choir joined other choirs from across the world as part of the World Voices Australia Concert 2009 and perform Mozart's Requiem Mass in D minor in the Sydney Opera House.

The trip beg with a four-day stop in Auckland and Rotorua, New Zealand, and included a performance at the Pitt St Methodist. Church in Auckland. This was the choir's second visit to New Zealand, the first such trip coming 20 years before in 1989.

The choir wrapped up the tour in Sydney, Australia for a final concert in the Sydney Opera House on June 8. The first half of the program featured a short concert by the Choir of their own repertoire, then joining with 100 other singers from 4 different choirs to perform the Requiem Mass in D minor.The Monday-evening event was the choir's main concert of the trip, and will perform under the direction of Dr. Eric Nelson, Director of Choral Studies at Emory University in Atlanta.

The Centenary Choir and the tour was under the direction of David Hobson, completing his second season as choir director. Hobson is only the fourth conductor in the choir's 68 year history and the second to hold the prestigious A.C. Cheesy Voran Chair.

Since 1941 the Centenary College Choir has performed throughout the world: singing for front-line troops in Korea, many American and European heads of state, NATO and American armed forces worldwide, 10 international conventions of Lions International, three times for the General Conference of the United Methodist Church, the Council of Bishops, and two lengthy engagements at New York's "Radio City Music Hall."

Years of extensive travel have earned the choir the media title of "America's Singing Ambassadors." In addition to singing annually throughout the United States, the choir makes international tours every other year, which has included 31 countries on six continents. The most recent concert tour was to Ireland, Wales and England in 2007. The choir is a unique collegiate choral group, singing a varied repertory including both sacred and secular music, from Bach to Broadway, folk to contemporary, and opera to oratorio.

Camerata

Centenary Press Release

Camerata, a choral ensemble from the Hurley School of Music at Centenary College, was invited to perform at the National Collegiate Choral Organization conference, November 5, 2009 at Yale University in New Haven, Conn.

The choral ensemble from Centenary was selected from one of the largest application pools in the history of the conference, and is one of only nine choirs nationally invited to perform at the prestigious biennial event.

"This is a tremendous event with respect to national exposure for Centenary College and in terms of the caliber of audience that will be in attendance," said Dr. Julia Thorn, conductor of the Camerata. "This is a national conference for choral conductors, so everyone in that audience will be listening with the critical ear of a conductor with the ability to recognize accuracy as well as musicality."

The conference, according to Thorn, has been the stage for some of the best choral groups across the country, including the University of North Texas, Yale University, the Eastman School of Music, Brigham Young University, and the Cincinnati Conservatory among others. "Every choir that has performed in previous years has been phenomenal, and although this is not a competition, it will be a great opportunity for our students to work to achieve a high level of success as artists as well as be inspired by other very skilled choirs," she said. "Anytime you are invited to attend and perform at a national conference, you have the chance to see how you stack up against other programs at this level of accomplishment."

But that is not the only reason Thorn and the choral group were excited to attend. Of the nine colleges invited, Camerata from Centenary was the only college from the south...and the only mixed choir from a small liberal arts college to perform. "It is very unusual to have such a small college like Centenary performing on a national venue," added Thorn. Centenary performed alongside choral groups such as the University of Maryland Chamber Singers, Colorado State University Chamber Choir, University of Missouri Singers, and the Cal State Long Beach Chamber Choir. "We were very excited to have the opportunity to demonstrate that we might be a small school from the south, but that we have an outstanding choral program."

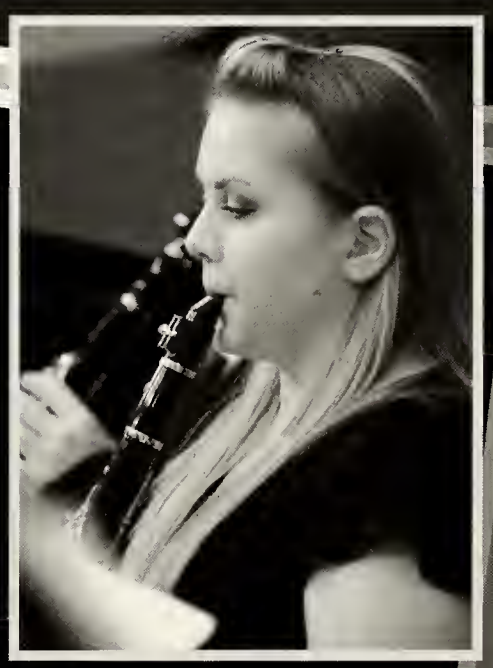

Colleges were selected to perform based on an audition tape and a musical program submitted to the selection committee, which judged the submissions in a blind process. Conductors could choose a possible program from several different categories, such as a chronological program, a historical period program, a major work, or a themed program. Thorn submitted a program that was very appealing to the selection committee. "They want to see the caliber of music each ensemble will perform and establish that the material is such that it would be of interest to other conductors for future performances," she said.

Centenary Camerata performed a program entitled Heaven and Hell: Choral Gems for the Faith-Based Liberal Arts College. "I think the convention committee was intrigued by the thematic program. I selected pieces all by living composers, within the theme that are very different stylistically as well as in multiple languages. It was a huge challenge incorporating as much variety as possible within the contemporary period while selecting music that is still academic in nature."

Camerata is an ensemble dedicated to quality artistic performances of choral repertoire from all historical periods and has been under the direction of Dr. Julia Thorn since 1997. The composition of the group is primarily voice majors with a variety of degree emphases, though membership is open to all Centenary students by audition.

not just college bike racers but also racers outside the college ranks. Races went well this year with multiple placings and wins at various events, including a 1st and 3rd place in the Women's 20-24 age group at the Warhawk Triathlon held at the University of Louisiana-Monroe.

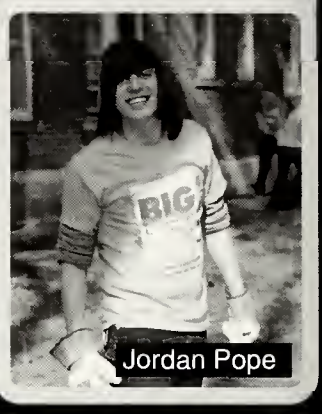

The Centenary College Cycling Club hosted the Centenary Time Trial on February 13, 2010 at the LSU Pecan Station south of Shreveport. It was a 11.7 mile individual racing event that was the first race of the 2010 racing season for the South Central Collegiate Cycling Conference. We had competitors from the University of Oklahoma and Midwestern State (TX) attending as well as Centenary.

The highlight of the year was going to the National Collegiate Triathlon Championships in Lubbock, Texas on April 17th. In 2009 the group participated with only two Centenary students taking part, but this year there were five! They raced against 900 other students from over 100 colleges and universities across the nation. Club members represented themselves well, fighting through adverse conditions, and learned more about their sport.

Centenary Press Release

More than 350 students, faculty, staff, alumni and community volunteers hit the streets March 20, 2010 when the BIG Event kicked off for a third straight year in the Highlands.

Armed with rakes, brooms, shovels, trash bags and more, the volunteers canvassed the neighborhood and helped our neighbors with common household tasks while giving back to the community that has embraced Centenary for more than 100 years.

Student Director Jennifer Pate said that this year the committee received more than 25 job requests from residents that live near the College for help with household jobs. "We have a lot of jobs and will be working hard to get them all completed," said Pate. "One of the coolest jobs we are working on is to help one resident with a flooding issue. This really is a great opportunity for us to give back to our neighbors!"

After the jobs were completed, there was a community picnic at Jones Rice intramural field along with The Battle of the Bands at the Hargrove Memorial Amphitheatre.

BIG Event 3

At the BIG Event, students, faculty, staff, and alumni all come together to act as neighbors helping neighbors. Together, we work to beautify the surrounding neighborhoods of Centenary College, to show our gratitude for their support of our community, and to allow us to give back and connect with the Shreveport community. Volunteers have the opportunity to choose from various helpful activities, including exterior home improvement, basic landscaping, and inside services.

On October 14, a group of 17 students and staff from Centenary College of Louisiana loaded two fifteen-passenger vans for a mission trip to the Conference Center at Mount Sequoyah in Arkansas. Led by Mission Coordinator, Laura Vaughan, staff members and students selflessly gave up their fall break to help the Conference Center with repairs and maintenance. During the four-day stay on the mountain, the mission team accomplished several jobs that needed to be done. Some of the completed tasks included building a ramp off of the laundry room, blowing leaves off the roofs, cleaning the gutters, and weeding in one of the many gardens. The team also helped to clean up an older cottage and then began the process of priming, sanding and painting.

On another cottage, rotten facial boards were replaced with freshly painted new ones. The team leveled a concrete ramp and repaired a plaster ceiling and installed concrete patches in pot holes at the camp entrance. Vinca was transplanted beside a sidewalk to help with erosion.

But to simply say that the only thing accomplished on this mission was work, would be an understatement, for each day began and ended with devotion. Mission encompasses much more than the physical, it requires a great deal of the spiritual and I truly believe this team grasped that concept. Because whether they were weeding out their lives in the garden or tearing down walls they tend to hide behind while cleaning the cottage, they were each writing a chapter in their lives. God's presence was definitely at work as the mission team expressed their love for Him through their selfless hard work.

During Mardi Grad Break, 15 Centenary students, faculty and staff went to the Bahamas, the Island of Eluthera, to work with Methodist Habitat. We spent the week working on two houses. At the first house we painted, replaced rotten wood and tiled a bathroom. The second house we worked on was a brand new Habitat House that when completed will replace the shack that the family lived in behind the house. We helped to frame up doors and windows and painted.

We took a break everyday for lunch and had fun exploring different beaches on the island.

Our evenings were spent with student led devotionals, a Christian rapper from the island who shared his message with us through his original songs, we spent time with the island children doing crafts and playing games, participated in a bible study at the Methodist church on the island and went caving yes it was dark, wet and slippery and someone saw a bat but it was a really cool place!

We learned to be more patient. That we can live with less. We don't need our cell phones at all times to survive and to remember the five P's....Prior Planning, prevents poor performance which can helps us in everything that we do.

If I Should Die Before I Wake . . . . .

Now I lay me down to sleep
I pray the Lord my Soul to keep
If I should die before I wake
I pray the Lord my soul to take.

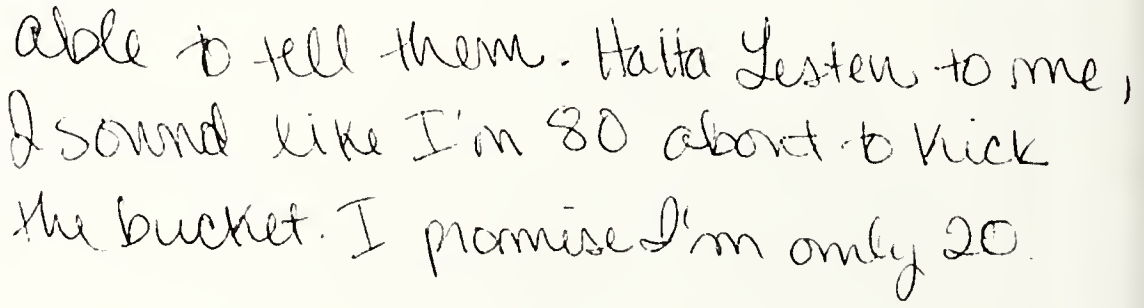

From the Diary of Jennifer Carol White

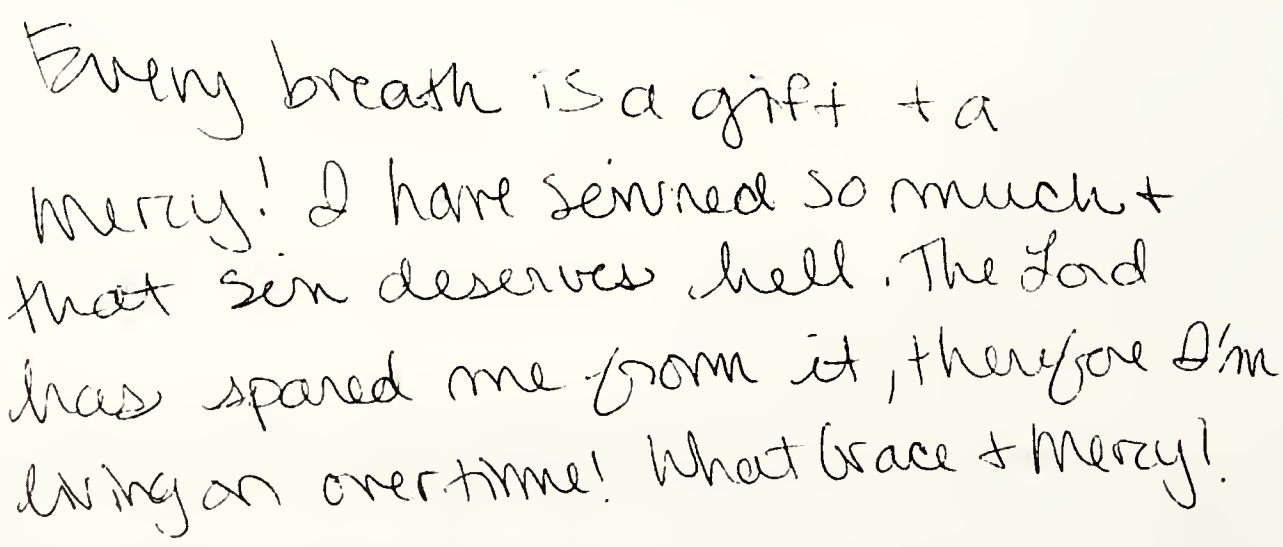

January 3, 2009

13 days before she was called from this earthly life to her eternal home in glory.

It's not very often I write in this diary and I'm rather ashamed of it. I feel like the time period which the Lord has allowed me to live is quite significant. The only problem is life rushes by so quickly and some things you hardly ever get around to doing. Remember, time is a most valuable thing and we must not waste a second or at least try not to with God's help. Busyness rapes relationships and laziness destroys all. Perhaps this will be added to my "New Years Resolution" list to make me record events more often. So many special, funny, & significant things have happened, but when I sit down to write (usually long after the fact), they are either forgotten or a faded memory usually. Hopefully I'll clear away some webs & be able to tell them. HaHa Listen to me, I sound like I'm 80 about to kick the bucket. I promise I'm only 20. Anyway, enough about that. I have recently been inspired by many things, but I suppose the movie I saw tonite with my parents, "Australia", must have broken the camel's back. In short, I have been tumbling w/ so many emotions. Ones which I feel are so important. I feel like there are several roads I could take, but I have the hardest time deciding which one. I love being busy or at least feeling like I am fulfilling my purpose. I think it's so fascinating the way people live their lives and the different paths they take. Some people choose a life filled w/ a career, completely focused on fulfilling a desire. Yet, when they grow old they are sometimes lonely because they never had the time or will to raise a family. Others, hold to their family so tightly that they are terrified to leave them & end up having a strong family life (which is wonderful), but have hardly left a stamp at all on the world. The fact, no matter what, is that we seem to never be content w/ what we have! How sad! Yet, we need some ambition in us to help us climb higher. The big question is where is the balance?!? I want so desperately for the Lord to make my life the most it can possibly be whatever it may be. I want to fulfill the purpose He wanted me to do & I want to meet or even exceed the requirements to equal all I've been given. "To whom much is given, much is required" and I want to meet the requirement! I want to be an active Christian. Not someone who just prays and doesn't put feet to their prayers. I want to pray, know the Lord is on my side, & do all I can (w/ God's help of course) to make it happen. I don't want to be an old lady and look back on the life God gave me & weep because it was wasted! I don't want to live my life just drudging through each day & continuing to exist just because I'm still breathing & wait to die! Every breath is a gift & a mercy! I have sinned so much & that sin deserves hell. The Lord has spared me from it, therefore I'm living on overtime! What Grace & Mercy! I want to do something spectacular not for man's eye to see & them give me the glory, but do something spectacular for the Kingdom! Yet, I don't want to spend my whole life waiting for my chance to come & hoping I'm doing OK. As the Bible says, "all work leads to profit, but mere talk only leads to poverty." I want to be wise as Solomon & be one of the strongest, Christian women ever to live. I want to be a woman of prayer and use every talent & gift the Lord gave me for His glory … to His utmost glory! I'm not asking to be acknowledged by men (or at least I sincerely hope that is not my hearts desire deep inside and if it is, Lord forgive me), I just want my life & the life of my family, friends, relatives, & all of God's created people (but esp. my dear family) to be used the most it heavenly possibly can be for HIS (God's) honor & glory.

I hope the Lord shows me soon what he wants me to do or maybe I'm already on the road. Well, I suppose I already am because I know He's preparing me. I just pray I don't mess up.

Have faith and be patient.

One last thought … I'm sure no one's life is of little meaning to God, but sometimes I think some people are just workers & "fillers" to help make something great. But then again, I suppose w/o the "nobodies" and "little guys", nothing great would ever happen.

With Love from Christ,

Whate'er My God Ordains is Right

Whate'er my God ordains is right:
His holy will abideth;
I will be still whate'er He doth;
And follow where He guideth;
He is my God; though dark my road,
He holds me that I shall not fall:
Wherefore to Him I leave it all.

Whate'er my God ordains is right:
He never will deceive me;
He leads me by the proper path:
I know He will not leave me.
I take, content, what He hath sent;
His hand can turn my griefs away,
And patiently I wait His day.

Whate'er my God ordains is right:
His loving thought attends me;
No poison can be in the cup
That my Physician sends me.
My God is true; each morn anew
I'll trust His grace unending,
My life to Him commending.

Whate'er my God ordains is right:
He is my Friend and Father;
He suffers naught to do me harm,
Though many storms may gather,
Now I may know both joy and woe,
Some day I shall see clearly
That He hath loved me dearly.

Whate'er my God ordains is right:
Though now this cup, in drinking,
May bitter seem to my faint heart,
I take it, all unshrinking.
My God is true; each morn anew
Sweet comfort yet shall fill my heart,
And pain and sorrow shall depart.

Whate'er my God ordains is right:
Here shall my stand be taken;
Though sorrow, need, or death be mine,
Yet I am not forsaken.
My Father's care is round me there;
He holds me that I shall not fall:
And so to Him I leave it all.

ONE LAST WORD

from Editor-in-Chief, Michelle Junot

To Whom it May Concern:

Well, here it is: Yoncopin 2010, In Retrospect. It's complete and so is my rein as Yoncopin Editor-in-Chief. I'd like to say I'll miss the all-nighters, the frantic search for photos, and writing captions with the help of my Facebook-Stalking Skills, but it just wouldn't be the truth. While I've learned more than I ever thought I could these past two years, I am more than ready to pass on the Yoncopin Challenge to a new Editor and staff who will surely put their own unique spin on Centenary's yearbook. I hope the Centenary Community has enjoyed my take on the Yoncopin as much as I've enjoyed creating every design and layout printed on the pages, and will remember my will to document our College's history—the good, the bad, and the questionable.

Before I go, I want to say a couple quick thank you's to those people who helped make the Yoncopin a completed product.

Firstly, thanks again to David Baker and Bob Vukas and everyone at the Jostens Printing Company. You've been unbelievably helpful and patient these last two years. I came into this position not knowing anything about inDesign or yearbooks and I cannot express my appreciation for the encouragement, support, and education you gave me.

Thanks also goes to Centenary's Marketing and Communications Department. Rick DelaHaya, Donna Bartholomew, and Sherry Heflin once again came through with their amazing photos and readily available press releases. You made my job easier and my product better. Thanks for being good at what you do.

Finally, special thanks to Laura Vaughan, Centenary's Athletics Department, Alumnus Leah Sayad, and Centenary Parent Karen Weaver for sharing their photos with the Yoncopin. Your generosity was, and continues to be, appreciated.

In the end, I often felt like The Little Red Hen around here, but am grateful to all my chicks. I hope you enjoy the bread knowing you helped! May Centenary continue to change for the better and the Yoncopin bring smiles to Centenary Faces as we all look back In Retrospect.

With all my blood, sweat, & tears,

Michelle Junot
Editor-in-Chief
